BENEFITS OF THE WAAD 6th GLOBAL ACADEMIC CONFERENCE

Your trip to New Orleans, Louisiana, USA is the perfect opportunity to learn about new priorities in the profession and how to address them. The trip offers networking sessions and practical examples of success stories, including a dinner cruise reception for the closing ceremony. Below is the information to help you create a solid business case for why this event is necessary for you or your organization's representative to participate.

ABOUT WAAD GLOBAL ACADEMIC CONFERENCE

The WAAD Global Academic Conference is a significant yearly gathering of scholars, professors, leaders, government officials, university administrators, and socio-economic developers to discuss a broad range of education, research, and economic development topics. The conference and its ancillary events provide attendees with numerous educational opportunities, networking, and sessions highlighting best practice case studies from around the world.

What is WAAD?

The World Association for Academic Doctors (WAAD) Inc. is a non-profit, tax-exempt organization. Our mission is to unite academic professionals worldwide in diverse disciplines to create and execute initiatives that will benefit local communities and the entire society. WAAD members are employed in various environmental settings including local, state, and federal governments, public-private partnerships, universities, and other institutions.

WHO SHOULD PARTICIPATE?

The following category of professionals should attend and participate in the world congress:

- Educators, Professionals, & Scholars
- Policy Makers & Scientists
- Doctoral Candidates
- College Students and Research Scholars
- NGO Leaders/Employees
- Government Stakeholders
- Corporate Managers/Executives
- Business Entrepreneurs
- Foreign Policy
- Policy Makers and Leaders
- Others interested in academic research

WHY YOU SHOULD ATTEND

For the 6th consecutive year, the WAAD global conference continues to serve as a significant opportunity for academic institutions and economic development practitioners with a common purpose: to share research data, information, and ideas about how to revamp economic well-being and the quality of life for local and international communities. The discussion focuses on addressing issues of creating and retaining jobs, diversity inclusion, cybersecurity, best leadership practices, and various educational opportunities and technologies. The global conference draws attendees from North America and many countries, including Brazil, India, China, Uganda, Ghana, Cameroon, Nigeria, the United Kingdom, Turkey, and Pakistan.

The world today is complicated. Technological advancements have ensured that we are more connected than ever before, yet in many ways, we have never been more disconnected. We are more aware than ever of the problems faced by humanity. Yet the distance provides a sense of security. What we fail to realize is that in a globalized world, every issue is a global one. The year is 2022-2023, yet the social justice issues we face today remind us, and the world, of our troubled past; how we deal with them will decide our future as a leader of social freedoms and the land of liberty. The theme: Globalization of Social Justice: Perspectives on Economics, Environment, Health, and Technology, offer training and skills enhancement benefits with critical issues and ways forward in this post-pandemic era. There are plenary sessions led by academic administrators and industry experts; concurrent sessions offer in-depth discussions and question-and-answer periods on current and future trends, and dinner cruise to tour the host city. The university conference room sessions allow conference presenters and attendees to brainstorm and discuss the challenges they face, the opportunities they are creating for themselves, and what lies ahead for their institutions and communities.
